

Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Senate Committee Hearing on Information Sharing and Protection

Posted by Kshemendra Paul, ISE Program Manager on Friday, March 11, 2011

Yesterday, I testified before the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee hearing [1], , ?Information Sharing in the Era of WikiLeaks: Balancing Collaboration and Security.?

As the WikiLeaks story evolved over the past year, many voiced concerns that information sharing would suffer a setback. This hearing [1] was an opportunity to discuss the root causes as well as our efforts to accelerate and strengthen both information sharing and security.

In my opening remarks [2], I explained that the Administration is committed to improving information sharing and information protection. While complex and challenging, we do not see a conflict between these goals.

My fellow panelists, Pat Kennedy from State [3], Terri Takai and Tom Ferguson from DoD [4], and Corin Stone from ODNI [5], are key partners in our government-wide efforts to further strengthen information sharing and protection.

Effective information sharing and collaboration are absolutely essential to keeping the American people safe and I thank the Committee for the chance to testify.
